SUBJECT: OFFER OF PURCHASE OPTIONS WITH DEFERRED SALES CHARGES DISCONTINUED

Desjardins Investments Inc. (the "Manager"), as Manager of Desjardins Funds, is continually improving its product offering to ensure it meets investors' needs and is adapted to financial market realities.

On July 5, 2021, the Manager announced its intention to discontinue the offer of purchase options with deferred sales charges or low load sale charges for units of Desjardins Funds. These purchase options are no longer offered as of September 10, 2021, except for purchases made under systematic plans initiated prior to that date.

The Manager now wishes to inform you that the purchase options with deferred sales charges or low load deferred sales charges will no longer be offered for purchases of Desjardins Funds under systematic plans. The conversion toward unit purchases with the initial sale charges option for purchases made under systematic plans will occur on or around November 26, 2021. This means that any purchase transactions made after the conversion date will be made under the front-end sales charge option.

For existing holders of units purchased under systematic plans or those who will purchase units of Desjardins Funds with the deferred sales charge or low load sales charges by November 26, 2021, under systematic plans, the deferred sales charge remains payable on redemption, subject to the terms and conditions at the time of redemption.

TAX IMPLICATIONS

The scheduled conversion will have no tax consequences.

FUNDS HELD

You will find enclosed the list of Desjardins Funds for which you are purchasing units under the deferred sales charge or deferred sales charge purchase option by systematic plans.
